LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

from

THE SOUTH CAROLINA STATE LIBRARY

To His Excellency, the Honorable James B. Edwards, Governor of South Carolina, and to the Honorable Members of the General Assembly of South Carolina:

Dear Sirs:

We have the honor to transmit the report of the South Carolina State Library for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1974.

This has been a year of progress for the South Carolina State Library. We have received delegations from many other states who wish to study both our Library building and our program of State Service. Our Patriot Reading Program for young people has received national acclaim as our contribution to the Bicentennial celebration.

The State Library has expanded its services throughout the State and at the same time prepared for the expected demise of federal funding which we have received abundantly in the past. Our staff has also assisted the Legislature and most other State agencies in providing reference assistance. It is with pride that we offer our report of programs and services (for the people of South Carolina) and the stewardship of State and Federal funds.

Respectfully submitted,

CARLANNA L. HENDRICK,
Chairman.

THE FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT
THE SOUTH CAROLINA STATE LIBRARY

July 1, 1973 - June 30, 1974

The South Carolina State Library was established by Legislative Act No. 464, 1969. The agency began operation in 1943 as the South Carolina State Library Board with responsibility for extending and improving public library service in the state. In 1969 when the State Library Board was re-established as the South Carolina State Library, the agency's responsibilities were expanded to include all the duties of a general state library including statewide planning and development and the coordination of library resources and services in the state. To carry out this responsibility and the other several specific responsibilities of the law, the State Library adopted the following basic objectives: (1) To provide comprehensive library services and resources to the people of South Carolina, giving every individual access to the informational resources of the state; (2) To furnish reference, loan, and research services to State government and State government agencies. Each program conducted by the State Library is keyed to these objectives, and continual progress is being made towards their achievement.

READER SERVICES

The Reader Services Department of the State Library provides assistance in making the reference and information resources of the library available to the library's users. Members of State government and State agencies make direct use of the library's resources. Citizens of the State have access to the library's services through their local public libraries.

REFERENCE AND INFORMATION SERVICE FOR STATE GOVERNMENT

Having access to the latest information is a basic criteria for effective government. The State Library's reference staff is trained in advanced research techniques and works closely with State government and State agencies to assist them in locating the latest information.

The reference staff is continually publicizing the research services of the State Library. Members of the staff visit agencies and confer with employees about informational services. During the year, the reference staff conducted ten workshops to acquaint State employees with library resources. The continual contact with the State agencies and State employees enables the library staff to anticipate informational needs and purchase materials accordingly.

The State Library continues to develop a strong central collection of research materials needed by State government. The collection is composed of books, periodicals, and microforms. State documents and Federal documents received on Federal depository are important materials in providing accurate statistical information to researchers. State agencies are urged to make recommendations for materials to be added to the research collection. By purchasing materials needed for State agencies, the State Library hopes to have a strong central collection available to all and reduce unnecessary duplication in purchase of materials by State agencies. To keep State personnel aware of new publications, the State Library publishes and distributes monthly "New Resources," a selective listing of recent materials.

During the year State government and State agencies borrowed 10,627 books from the State Library and the reference staff processed 2,523 research inquiries.

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE SERVICE

To provide better service to members of the General Assembly, a researcher from the State Library maintained a desk in the Legislative Council during state-wide sessions to receive information requests. With a direct line to the State Library, requests for research were transmitted to the State Library for quick processing. During the first year of business, legislators or their researchers borrowed 108 books, submitted 87 references requests, and received 546 pages of photocopy in answer to questions.

REFERENCE AND INTERLIBRARY LOAN SERVICE

It is becoming increasingly difficult for any library to have all materials needed by its patrons. The reference and interlibrary loan service of the State Library serves as the center for a statewide library network supplying specialized books and other materials to South Carolinians through their local public libraries.

To provide the highest level of service, it is necessary for the State Library to make use of other major collections within the State as well as the nation. In order to gain quick access to the major collections within the State, the State Library has microfilm copies of its card catalog as well as those of Clemson University and the University of South Carolina. The State Library's card catalog has been placed in the county libraries in Charleston, Florence and Greenville. When materials needed are not available within South Carolina, the reference staff may draw upon other major libraries within the region and the country by means of its teletypewriter facilities.

On March 22, 1974, the State Library instigated In-WATS service from the local libraries using WATS lines leased by the State. The utilization of telephone service enables interlibrary loan requests to be processed more quickly. Presently 90% of all requests received by the State Library are processed within 24 hours and the remainder within 48 hours. A state-wide workshop to acquaint libraries with the new telephone procedures was conducted by the reference staff during the year. Since its inception, 815 In-WATS calls have been received. During the entire year, the reference and interlibrary loan service supplied 9,908 books requested on interlibrary loan, answered 2,257 reference requests and supplied 4,242 pages of photocopy in reply to interlibrary loan requests.

GOVERNMENT DOCUMENTS

In 1970 the South Carolina State Library began a concentrated effort to establish a complete collection of South Carolina State documents. At present the collection totals 13,723 documents. During the year 5,210 documents were added to the collection. Although the collection is far from complete, the library is one of the major depositories for South Carolina State publications. The existing collection has proved to be invaluable to researchers from this State and from others. The collection provides up-to-date statistical information as well as serving as a good base for historical research on South Carolina. Each year the State Library compiles and publishes the annual Checklist of South Carolina State Publications which lists publications of State governmental departments and agencies received by the library during the fiscal year. Some 500 copies of this Checklist were distributed during the year.

TECHNICAL SERVICES

The Technical Services Department ordered and processed all educational materials, as well as coordinated the selection of materials for the State Library collection. In addition to books and documents the collection contains periodicals and newspapers in paper and in microform and ERIC and other services in microfiche. The department ordered and processed audio-visual materials for the Disadvantaged projects and large type books for service to the handicapped.

Acquisitions during the year included:

Books	7,597 volumes
State documents	5,210
Federal documents	3,278

The collection now totals 124,770 books, 13,723 State documents, and 6,715 Federal documents.

FIELD SERVICES

The field services program is the chief instrument through which State and LSCA projects are carried out at the local level. The primary goal of this program is the establishment and improvement of local public library service. To achieve this objective, the establishment of unified library systems in all counties has long been a goal. With the completion of the county library demonstration program in Kershaw County, this objective was achieved. Shifting emphasis to the strengthening and improvement of existing systems, a new project has been implemented to aid in the reorganization of the Dillon County Library system. This project will set the pattern for future projects. Efforts continue to develop a headquarters library for the Clarendon County Library system.

During 1973-74 four Field Service Librarians—

—worked with 39 library systems serving 46 counties

—made 227 field visits conferring with librarians, staff, and trustees

—attended 49 library board meetings

—held 5 workshops for librarians

—supervised 16 LSCA projects providing $574,873 in grants-in-aid to public libraries

—administered $906,681 in State Aid grants to public libraries.

STATE AID TO PUBLIC LIBRARIES

The State Aid Program has been basic to the establishment and improvement of public library service throughout South Carolina. The program was initiated with the establishment of the old State Library Board with grants of $300 per county. The amount has now been increased to 35¢ per capita based on the 1970 census. For participation in the State Aid Program, public libraries must meet requirements which guarantee the wise use of the State grant. These requirements have been as important as the grants in the improvement of public library service in the state and have been instrumental in the establishment of well organized library systems and of book collections of high quality.

FEDERAL AID TO PUBLIC LIBRARIES

The public libraries in South Carolina have participated in Federal aid to libraries since 1956 when the Library Services and Construction Act went into effect. These funds are administered by the State Library on the basis of a five-year State Plan prepared by the State Library and an annual program of projects. During the past eighteen years Federal funds have been used to remedy the major deficiencies in public library service of the state, establish library service in State institutions, and improve library service to the blind and physically handicapped. The program has benefited all libraries in the state and has resulted in a better level of service for all citizens.

CONTINUING EDUCATION FOR LIBRARIANS

The State Library provides in-service training opportunities for librarians employed in the public and institutional libraries in the state. Grants are awarded to professional and pre-professional librarians to attend workshops or institutes as well as regularly scheduled courses in library science. During the year because of the uncertainty of Federal funding, no scholarships were granted for the summer of 1973, but four scholarships were granted to pre-professional librarians from four county and regional libraries during the summer of 1974.

COUNTY LIBRARY PROJECT

To achieve maximum economy in the provision of a good level of library service throughout the state, the State Library has worked constantly towards the goal of unified county library systems incorporating into a single system all public library service in the area. With the completion of the third year of the Kershaw County Library demonstration, this goal has been achieved for the entire state. In eliminating expensive duplication of administration, materials, and personnel, the unified county library system has contributed to the achievement of a good level of service in South Carolina. Among county libraries which have resulted from the demonstration projects conducted under this program are: the Anderson County Library, the Darlington County Library, the Greenville County Library, the Florence County Library, the Marion County Library, the Beaufort County Library, the Kershaw County Library, and the York County Library.

LIBRARY SERVICE TO THE DISADVANTAGED

The State Library encourages extension of public library service to the disadvantaged through the provision of financial assistance to county and regional libraries which will undertake such a program. Through these projects some 170,000 South Carolinians have been reached in urban and in rural areas. People living in remote and isolated rural areas and disadvantaged groups and individuals in urban areas have profited from this program which provides library service on a level to which this special clientele can respond. Fifteen county libraries provided special services to the rural disadvantaged, and nine county libraries serving urban areas provided service to urban disadvantaged. The grants-in-aid have made it possible for the participating libraries to employ necessary personnel, provide transportation, and develop collections of reading materials, A-V materials, and special equipment needed to implement service. As the projects develop, more local funds go into their support and maintenance.

PUBLIC LIBRARY CONSTRUCTION

During 1973-74 a small additional amount of LSCA funds for construction became available to the State Library which in turn was able to approve construction grants for the Florence County Library headquarters building and for the Greenwood County Library headquarters. These construction programs are at the very beginning stage, and construction is not expected to be completed for several years. The Clinton branch of the Laurens County Library was completed, and plans for the construction of the Marion County Library headquarters building are nearing completion with construction expected to begin in Fiscal 1975. Plans for the headquarters of the Fairfield County Library are also complete, but due to a lack of local funding, construction has been delayed. No further Title II- LSCA funds are expected to be appropriated, and for that reason these grants are the final ones which the State Library will be able to make for library construction.

The Revenue Sharing Program has aided in the construction of several new public library buildings. Among these are the Woodruff branch of the Spartanburg County Library and the Pamplico branch of the Florence County Library completed during this fiscal year. Revenue sharing funds have been allocated for the construction of the headquarters building of the Hampton County Library, a member of the Allendale-Hampton-Jasper Regional Library; for the renovation and addition to the Lee County Library; for the construction of the Hilton Head branch of the Beaufort County Library; for the headquarters of the Saluda County Library, a member of the Newberry-Saluda Regional Library; and for the Andrews branch of the Georgetown County Library.

The Allendale County Library headquarters was completely renovated and expanded to include the headquarters of the Allendale-Hampton-Jasper Regional Library. The Cooper River branch of the Charleston County Library was renovated and a large addition constructed. The Aiken County Library renovated a handsome old mansion in Aiken to serve as headquarters of the county library.

Plans are underway for construction of the Bethune branch of the Kershaw County Library and the Lexington branch of the Lexington County Library. A building in Joanna will be renovated to house the Joanna branch of the Laurens County Library. The Pickens branch of the Pickens County Library is nearing completion, and the Blacksburg branch of the Cherokee County Library is being renovated and refurnished.

INSTITUTIONAL LIBRARY SERVICE

The State Library provides assistance to the State supported institutions of South Carolina for library programs. This assistance is provided at three levels.

The major portion of the State Library's institutional program is to the major residential institutions of the State. This support takes the form of grants-in-aid for the purchase of books, periodicals and audio-visual materials for the patients' library in 19 institutions of 6 different agencies of State government. The institutions provide suitable quarters for the library, a qualified librarian, and an adequate operating budget. Since the State Library began this project, institutional library quarters have improved significantly and budgets have increased commensurate with the realization of the true value of good library services by institutional administrators.

The second type of institutional program is provided to those institutions too small to support their own library. These three institutions are for those addicted to alcohol and/or drugs and are operated by the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation and the Department of Mental Health. This service consists of providing paperback collections to these institutions. The State Library purchases paperback books carefully selected for their high reading interest. This project has been in operation since 1969. Each year additional titles are added to these collections in order to keep them up-to-date. It is estimated that three quarters of the residents are using these collections. Therapists are also using some of the titles selected in their therapy sessions.

A unique and highly successful arrangement is the method of delivery of library services to the South Carolina Crippled Children's Convalescent Center in Florence. The State Library provides the services under a three-way contract with the South Carolina Crippled Children's Convalescent Center and the Florence County Library. Bi-weekly visits to the Center are made by the Children's Librarian of the Florence County Library. Services include readers guidance, book talks, and filmstrip showings.

LIBRARY SERVICE TO THE VISUALLY AND PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED

The South Carolina State Library assumed direct responsibility for service to the blind and physically handicapped in 1973-74. Prior to this year, service was provided by the jointly supported North Carolina-South Carolina Regional Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped. The newly established South Carolina State Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped provides to its eligible readers, books in recorded form (disc and tape), books in large print, and books in braille. To those who read recorded books, the library supplies a sound reproducer (either a talking book machine or a cassette playback machine). All of the books and machines are provided by The Library of Congress. The service, including postage costs, is free to the readers.

The library had 2,105 registered readers as of June 30, 1974. These readers read a total of 46,871 books and 9,858 magazines. Because the library is in its first year the collection is still somewhat small. A total of 19,012 books are available. To solve this problem many books are secured on interlibrary loan from The Library of Congress.

The South Carolina State Library provides browsing collections of talking books in five county libraries. At these libraries, Anderson, Charleston, Richland, Greenville, and Spartanburg counties, a professional librarian provides guidance for handicapped readers who wish to use their local public library.

All public libraries of South Carolina serve as agents of the South Carolina State Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped. In this capacity they help find potential readers, assist the library in retrieving unused equipment, and in locating inactive readers. The service is predominantly a mail order service from Columbia, but it would not be possible to effectively operate without the active support of the county libraries.
